

Abstract

An improved luminescence wheel assembly comprises a latch base coupled to a plastic optical fiber structure installed on both sides of the wheel axle, such that the product is easy to install, easy to remove, and aesthetically pleasing. An improved luminescence wheel assembly is capable of adjusting the size of its structure according to the size of the wheel axle.